 Employment is freely chosen Slavery and bonded labour are totally unacceptable. Almost 71 million people are victims of forced labour.	 Freedom of association and the right to collective bargaining are respected Tens of thousands of workers lose their jobs every year for attempting to form or join a trade union or improve working conditions. Some start losing their jobs.	 Working conditions are safe and hygienic An estimated 2.3 billion people die every year from work-related accidents and diseases.
 Child labour shall not be used Million children work to support their families, risking on an education and often damaging their health. This reinforces the cycle of poverty.	 Living wages are paid Roughly half the world's population still lives on less than a dollar a day. It's possible to feed their families on an adult's wage. They may need their children to work.	 Working hours are not excessive Long working hours are the norm for most of the world's workers. This damages people's health and undermines family life.
 No discrimination is practised Women and certain minorities are often confined to the lowest paid jobs with no access to training or promotion.	 Regular employment is provided Most workers can be laid off when it suits the employer. This leads poverty and insecurity and drives down wages.	 No harsh or inhumane treatment is allowed Few workers have protection against physical, verbal or sexual abuse in the workplace.
